EASTLAKE SAYS THINKS MISS KNOX GUILTY

Husband of Slain Woman Declares he Believes Jealousy was Motive

NURSE DENIES GUILT

Still Maintains Remarkable Composure in Spite of Severe Grilling in Richmond Jail.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 6.—"I believe that woman killed my wife."

Roger D. Eastlake, who, with Miss Sarah E. Knox, an alleged sweetheart, has been charged by a coroner's jury with the brutal murder of his wife, Mrs. Margaret Eastlake, at Colonial Beach last Friday, today made the above statement to police authorities here, about Miss Knox, after his removal from the city jail at Fredericksburg.

Eastlake has surrendered the stoic attitude which he has maintained since his arrest and throughout the day gave evidence of considerable nervousness, leading Richmond police to believe he will make a written confession within the next few hours.

When asked why he believed that Miss Knox killed his wife, Eastlake responded that "she was jealous."

Although confronted with the Eastlake statement indicating her guilt, Miss Knox continued to assert her innocence. She told police, however, that "the boy knows nothing of the crime but you seem to have a strong case against me."

After being placed in the Second precinct police station, the prisoners were removed and placed in the Richmond city jail. Officials fear Miss Knox may attempt suicide after having been informed of Eastlake's statement.

The quiz which resulted in what is believed to be a virtual confession by Eastlake was conducted by William A. Toler, sergeant of the Richmond detectives, the investigator who was assigned to unravel the murder by Governor Westmoreland Davis.

A breach between the prisoners was indicated in a statement made to the police by Eastlake in which he declared that he had not seen Miss Knox since June 15, as well as in letters recently written to Eastlake by Miss Knox in which she repeatedly mentioned that she had not been receiving answers to her letters.

With this information at hand, Detective Toler expresses the belief that Eastlake was attempting to discontinue his acquaintance with Miss Knox, and that she, seeking revenge, had slain his wife. From the information which he had gleaned during his investigation at the scene of the crime, he also believes that Eastlake was present when the murder was committed.

The convention was called to order promptly at 9:30 o'clock this morning by S. B. Hammer, Lynchburg, grand chancellor, and the reports of the finance and state of order were submitted by chairmen of these committees.

In addition considerable other routine business was taken up and disposed of by the convention.

PARENT TEACHERS

First Meeting of Association Held Tuesday—Big Work Planned

At the first regular fall meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association which was held in the Lee School building Tuesday afternoon, the officers elected last year took office. These officers are: Mrs. T. Clifton Howard, president, Miss M. A. Nevitt, secretary, Mrs. Robert P. Whitestone treasurer. The meeting was opened with prayer after which plans for the winter work were discussed by the forty enthusiastic members in attendance. It was decided that the association should meet the last Tuesday in each month at the Lee School building, at 3:30 o'clock, and that there should be a called meeting once each month to be held at 7:30 o'clock and that this meeting should be called "Fathers' Meeting," as so many of the fathers can not be present at the afternoon sessions. It was also arranged, through the courtesy of the Playground Association, that mothers could bring their babies to these meetings and have them cared for by nurses sent from the Playgrounds, thus leaving them free to transact their business without fear of interruption. A "Sunshine Committee" was formed to carry sunshine and cheer to the shut in mothers. This committee, it is thought, will do much toward bringing about a fuller co-operation between the patrons and teachers. A "Membership Committee" was also fromed to increase the membership of this very important Association. Refreshments will be served at all meetings and a committee was appointed to arrange for this matter. Another very important feature, decided up n in this meeting was the installation of a "Question Box," which will be set upon the desk at each meeting to receive the questions of parents and teachers. These questions will be received without the askers name and will be read and discussed at the meeting following the one at which they are received. In this way many important questions may be asked and set right without embarrassment to either the asker of the question or the object of the question. Many important and vital issues will by this means be settled which, if left to open discussion, would probably never have been brought up.

The next meeting will be held the last Tuesday afternoon in this month and much important business is to be discussed and acted upon. All parents, teachers and all others interested in the welfare of the schools are invited to join and help to make the public school system in Alexandria a bigger and better institution.

The business session will begin at 7:30 o'clock, which will be followed by the celebration.

It is expected that a large number of officials of the order will attend and extend best wishes to the Red Men on their thirteenth birthday.

Hunter's son, Charles, found a hand grenade on the Wilderness battlefield following the marine maneuvers, and brought it home with him as a souvenir. The grenade had evidently failed to explode and still contained a load of powder for making noise during the sham battle. Mr Hunter was examining it, when he heard sizzling noise. He put it on the floor and placed his foot on it, thinking it contained a harmless load. The grenade exploded and blew a portion of shoe sole into Mr. Hunter's foot. The explosion also blew a large hole in the plank floor. The injured man's physician injected tetanus antitoxin to prevent lockjaw from the powder wound.

MUSICAL PLAY "SHIP AHOY" SCORES HIT

Cast of 200 Participates in Performance Which is Greatly Enjoyed

PRAISE PARTICIPANTS

Affair Stayed Under the Auspices of the Old Dominion Boat Club—To be Repeated Tonight and Tomorrow.

Decidedly the best and most comical musical extravaganza ever presented in Alexandria by this company, was the production of "Ship Ahoy" last night in the Opera House under the auspices of the Old Dominion Boat Club and under the supervision of Mr. George M. Miles, a director of the John B. Roger's Producing Co. The house was well filled and the snappy humorous lines brought forth many rounds of applause. in fact there was not a moment that did not bring forth lots of laughter and the actors held the entire attention of the audience.

Too much praise cannot be said of the cast of 200, each and everyone of whom did his or her part to perfection. From the tiny little tots as sea nymphs and witches to the principals, there was not a flaw and the play revelled in song hits. Among the most popular of which were, "My Dream Has at Last Come True," sung by Edward Oliver and Miss Evelyn Howard with a chorus, "Sweetheart In Every Port," sung by Allan Roberts and chorus, and "The Bashful Bumble Bee," by Miss Mary Nalls and a chorus of buzzing bees.

The action of this delightful musical farce takes place on board the S. S. Florida, where we are introduced to a jolly crowd creating a boat load of fun from ludicrous situations, humorous lines and characters. Unlike most musical comedies, "Ship Ahoy," has a real and rovel plot which grows more interesting as the show proceeds.

The leading part of Billy Brady, a college hero, Allan Roberts portrays to perfection and his clever acting brought much applause.

Miss Evelyn Howard as Billy's sister, was a winsome and attractive maid with lots of pep and her acting was truly professional. Miss Howard also possess a delightful voice

Miss Mary Ellen Nalls deserves much credit for her portrayal of Beatrice Sloane. Miss Nalls was charming and in addition to her capable acting, she has a sweet lyric soprano.

Miss Nina Fulton in the part of Mrs. Sloane made a charming and handsome matron who played her part with ingenuity.

The part of Johnny Thomas, another college boy, was well taken by Edward Oliver, and Jack Pohl as Captain Kidd was another feature of

FIRE REPORT MADE

Norman Roberts of Columbia Co. Submit Third Quarterly Report

Norman Roberts, president of Columbia Engine and Motor Company No. 4, last night submitted his third quarterly report as president of that organization. The report follows:

This past quarter of the year has not been as active with fire alarms as the first and second quarters, consequently we have had a little rest and the operators have placed our apparatus in fine condition.

The company, as a whole, is in the best of condition and new members are being added to the company's roster.

I mention the following, because I feel that we should keep our laurels before us, at the State Firemen's Convention, which was held in Lexington, Virginia, with our sister companies Nos. 1 and 5, we carring off first honors for the best appearing department in line.

Our reception in the city upon our return was the noisest as well as the welcoming cheers of our citizens that have ever received the Firemen upon their return. This alone, my comrades, speaks for the people and city officials of their appreciation for our services. Let us continue in their love and admiration.

During the last quarter we have only responded to 15 alarms against 27 for the First quarter and 28 for the Second quarter.

We responded to 7 non-serviceable alarms; 4 alarms where we were forced to use 4 chemical tanks using 243 gal. chemicals; 4 alarms where we were forced to use water using 4,850 feet of hose; 9 hours service.

There were 420 men responded for duty during the quarter.

The highest number responing to an individual alarm.....54
The lowest number responding to an indivudual alarm.....15
Average 28 men to an alarm.
420 men Third quarter.
1108 men first 6 months.

1528 men in the nine months of the year responding for active duty.

Yours very truly.
NORMAN ROBERTS,
President.

OFFICIAL VOTE

1167 Majority For New Form of Government—Result of Election Two Years Ago Given

Commissioners of election met this morning in the office of the clerk of the corporation court and canvassed the vote cast Tuesday in the council manager plan form of city government election.

The official vote was as follows: 1167 for change and 318 against change, giving a majority of exactly 1167 for the change.

The vote by wards follows: First, for change, 348, against change, 83.

Second, for change, 293; against change, 87.

Third, for change, 505; against change, 70.

Fourth, for change, 339; against change, 78.

The majority, therefore, is 1167 which is an increase of five over the first report given out.

On September 23, 1919, an election for the same purpose was held in Alexandria and the move for a change was defeated. The vote in that year was 594 for change and 602 against change, the old form of government winning out by the narrow margin of eight.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

Washington, Oct. 6.—President Harding is being informed by members of Congress that the voters of the country are very much dissatisfied with the progress being made by the Senate in enacting the legislation pending before it. Especially is this true of the delay in the passage of the tax bill. The callers at the White House are telling the President that the people are tired of paying so much money annually into the federal coffers and are demanding relief.

While all this dissatisfaction is being echoed in Washington, it is having no effect on the Senate. The upper body of Congress is making but slow progress in debating the tax measure. In fact, little support is being given the bill as framed by the Senate finance committee except by the members of that committee. So strong is the criticism of the measure that there has been a revival in the effort to enact into law Senator Smoot's manufacturer's tax, commonly known as a sales tax. Many of the leading Republican members, supposedly the representatives of "big business," are urging the adoption of the Smoot plan with an amendment. The plan calls for a tax of three per cent on all sales. Many of the Republican Senators would vote for the plan, provided it called for a tax of 1½ per cent on sales. This would amount to about a tax of ½ per cent on each turnover.

It is believed by many that eventually President Harding will have to take a hand in the tax muddle and endeavor to get the Senate Republicans behind some plan to reduce taxation if not the Smoot plan, then something similar, because there has developed but little support in favor of the tax bill as now framed and which is before the Senate for action. There has been some talk that the bill will have to go back to the committee for reframing.

Reorganization Hits Snag

The much-heralded reorganization of the Government departments, which President Harding talked so much about during the campaign as a means of saving large sums of money for the taxpavers, appears to have struck a snag. Walter F. Brown Mr. Harding's representative on the Congressional Joint Committee on reorganization, has been unable to get the members of the Cabinet to agree to a programme for submission to the committee for its consideration.

When Mr. Brown was appointed to the chairmanship of the committee, months ago, he indicated that he would have a plan all ready by September 1 if not sooner. Then the date was postponed until September 15 and finally untail October 12. That time has passed, but still the programme is not in sight.

Back of the whole business, it appears, is the realization by members of the Cabinet, who in the last seven months of service have had the opportunity of learning all the ins and outs of the government, that there can be no reorganization along the lines originally indicated. Some of the members of the Cabinet are saying that the organization of the departments is not so bad after all, and that to step in with a large knife and cut blindly would be a serious matter and one which the public in the end would very much resent.

As a result it is indicated by some who are close to the administration that only the most perfunctory reorganization scheme will be recommended in the end.

Meantime certain members of Congress who are anxious that something of a vital reorganization be accomplished are chafing at the delay. They are calling on Mr. Brown for some action, but he is refusing, in view of everything that has happened, to fix a date for submitting the scheme. It is indicated that the Republicans are in a disagreement among themselves on the subject of reorganization, and that the question will cause a bitter fight during the next few months.

Hootch Receipts

Thomas R. Marshall, the only living ex-vice president, is being swamped by hootch receipes. Everywhere he goes, in his wide traveling on the lecture platform, someone takes him a side and slips him a new formula for home brew, wine or hard likker. He hasn't tried any of them and isn't going to.

"I don't see why they should pick me out for a dead game sport," said Mr. Marshall. "I haven't had a drink in 30 years."

Crane Back in Politics

Charles R. Crane, former Minister to China, spending two days in Washington has injected himself into the political situation with a rush. Last night, Mr. Crane dined with former President Woodrow Wilson and today conferred with Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin and Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama.

No admissions have been made by Mr. Crane or by either of the senators he consulted, but it is understood the conferences bode no good to the regular Republican control of the Senate and the Administration itself.

Mr. Crane has just returned from China by way of Siberia and Russia and is an acknowledged authority upon Far Eastern affairs. It is understood also that Mr. Crane primed himself with information concerning

TODAY'S THOUGHT Cosmus Duke of Florence, was wont to say of perfidious friends, that "We read that we ought to forgive our enemies; but we do not read that we ought to forgive our friends."

Lord Bacon.

A WORD OF CAUTION

It would seem that a word of caution may not be untimely, in reminding the voters of Alexandria that they should not too hastily commit themselves to candidates for the council of five. There is no hurry, the election is a long ways off, and the necessity of a wise choice imperative. The Gazette has given the matter no thought whatever, except that the best material available in Alexandria must be drafted into public service. A pledge to vote for any one, prematurely given, is almost always a matter of subsequent regret.

OUR HAITIAN POLICY

The policy of this government towards the Haitian Republic, or, rather, its lack of policy, verges on absolute folly. Here is one of the richest agricultural spots in the world, that might be made to produce a hundred millions of dollars of export stuffs annually, that is utterly unproductive and rotting with the rankest vegetation. Roger L. Farnham, vice-president of the National City Bank, of New York, testified before the Senate Committee recently, that there is no comprehensive plan of development in the Black Republic, because the United States representatives and the so-called Haitian government are deadlocked. Neither can act without the consent of the other, and an agreement is out of the question, now, and probably forever. The country is nothing but jungle, the people sadly in need of civiliing influences, and Uncle Sam is to blame for it all.

The treatment of the neighboring Dominican Republic is likewise at fault. There, however, the people are as far advanced as the Cubans or Mexicans, and their country should be turned over to them again, with proper provision against revolutions and protection of the foreign indebtedness.

Mr. Farnham, whose testimony we have quoted, is probably the best-posted man in the world today as to conditions in the two Republics, and as to proper measures for their redemption. Our administration in Santa Domingo, as well as in Haiti, has been incredibly stupid. It is about time that the Harding Adminstration did something to alleviate a cruel situation. We suggest that Roger L. Farnham be sent down as civil governor of both countries, and that he be given plenary powers. He has travelled both on foot and horseback from one end of the island to the other, and knows its productive powers, its people, and its possibilities as no other man. With a business government in both countries, we feel safe in saying that the imports and exports between them and the United States would in less than five years run from a quarter to a half billion dollars. Our fatal error is in trusting this work to naval officers who know little and care less about economic development. In fact their whole training is in the arts of war which naturally unfits them for the arts of peace.

HANDS ACROSS THE SEA

An intimacy unthought of a few years ago, is springing up between the school girls and boys of America and the school children of Europe. Under the guidance of the Junior American Red Cross, schools in the United States are exchanging letters, pictures, and handwork with schools across the ocean. This movement is giving a new meaning to the study of geography, history, and the languages. Coupled with it is a growing knowledge and understanding of one another among the children of the world that holds great promise of universal peace in the years to come.

"Did you ever imagine that also in far-away Italy, there were people thinking about you—boys and girls, the same age as you, and studying the same things?" wrote the pupils of a school in Rome to their young friends in America. This letter, addressed to "Dear little friends across the ocean," a sample of scores of others from Spain, France, Switzerland and Holland, then continues:

"Did you imagine that these Italian children wanted to start a correspondence and form a friendship across the great space which divides them from you?

"I think that you, too, although you have different customs, ways of living and schools, would be glad to strengthen this friendship between young people because we are all equal in our hopes, our little aspirations and our great ideals.

"The heart of a schoolgirl or school boy of whatever country, of whatever education, is always the same in its affections and wish to know pupils o other lands and to love them. That's true, isn't it?

"Don't you feel enthusiastic too and wouldn't you like to be our friends and form one immense family?

"We live in Rome, the capital of Italy. Haven't you seen on a map a country shaped like a boot and about the center of that boot a little black circle with Rome written in it? Did your teacher tell you that that circle marked the capital of the Kingdom of Italy? But perhaps you have forgotten it now.

"A little while ago we began to study English. Yes, really English. Perhaps by the end of this year we can write you a letter in your beautiful language. Can you write to us in ours? We are sure that you too will be glad to correspond. Tell us about your studies and describe your city to us. We will try to do the same. In this way we can know each other better and form a friendship between the schools of our two countries. In the meantime we send you our love.

FINDING THE MOUNTAINS

Two small heads were bent over the open geography.

"Looks like a long wooly worm crawling up the map," said Claude to Billie, just as Miss Swanson passed down the aisle. Looking over their shoulders, the teacher saw Claude's stubby finger tracing the course of the Appalachians, and she smiled as she heard the matter of fact Billie say:

"But of course they are just rocks and trees and hills."

Then as she moved away she heard Claude say with a sigh:

"Wish I could see 'em real close."

Miss Swanson had taken it for granted that all of her pupils had rambled over the beautiful White Mountains which were less than 30 miles away, almost in sight of that little Vermont schoolhouse. When the class in geography was called, her questions soon revealed that only one of her pupils had ever been to the mountains.

That evening she talked with the chairman of the Junior American Red Cross school committee and a plan of action was speedily agreed upon. Miss Swanson's pupils were to have an outdoor geography lesson They took the editor of the town paper into their confidence, and next day he published an appeal to owners of automobiles to bring their cars to Miss Swanson's school the next Friday and take the pupils to the mountains which they knew chiefly as "a woolly worm on the map."

On the appointed afternoon 20 automobiles drove up to the school house and 85 excited and happy youngsters piled in, many of them for their first ride in an auto. Each car was decked with a Red Cross flag, and when teh toll bridge over the river was reached the keeper waved his hand and shouted:

"This bridge is free to the Red Cross. Go it, you kids!"

Soon Claude and Billie and the rest of the pupils were gazing in delight at the towering trees and splashing brooks, as the cars wound up the mountain road. When the top was reached, they piled out and gathered about Miss Swanson who told them ever so many things that were not set down in their geographies, about the mountains. Then suddenly there appeared from some where a real picnic lunch, and after that came the delightful ride home through the evening shadows. So successful was the excursion into the open that the Junior Red Cross arranged for other lessons with the sky, the trees, the hills, and meadows for textbooks.

As tired Claude crept into bed that night, he whispered to his mother that he hadn't seen even one wholly worm on the whole mountain side.

During the last school year there were 31,710 Junior American Red Cross School Auxiliaries at work with 5,113,000 members enrolled. This number is to be greatly exceeded this year.

DECLINE IN GAS PRODUCTION

Wash., D. C., Oct. 6.—A continuation of the decline in the production and supply of gasoline is indicated by a statistical statement just issued by the United States Bureau of Mines, in which it is shown that the nation's stock of this fuel on July 31 amounted to 684,256,695 gallon as compared with a supply of 750,644,450 gallons at the beginning of July. MOTHER, QUICK! GIVE
CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP
FOR CHILD'S BOWELS

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

SHAMROCKS TRIMMED

One of the largest crowds that has ever witnessed a ball game in this city saw the Dreadnaughts defeat the "Wonder Team" of the Shamrock A. C. Sunday on Baggett's field. This game was the forrty-seventh for the big Ds and it was the forty-fourth victory, a record of which few teams can boast.

Tolson first baseman for the Dreadnaughts, showed that he was made of better stuff than the ordinary sand lot player. He played his position in the field without error and with the bat he came to the rescue of his team three times, twice with smashing doubles and once with a nicly placed sacrifice fly. He, it is rumored, is the best first baseman seen in these parts for some time.

Devers also handled the willow in the old time form pounding out the longest doubles ever seen on this field and scoring a moment later one of Tolson's doubles.

Beall, Shamrock's much talked of strike out King was found for 11 hits. Frye pitched the best game of the season.

Alexandria came across in the seventh with a double which scored two runs. Ludlow saved the day once when Sullivan tried to stretch his three bagger into something better and was caught in the act by one of the longest throws ever seen on the Dreadnaught field. Ludlow got it home where Berle was patiently waiting to receive it and retired the ambitious Shamrock.

Giles' record, established in this game, will never be forgotten. Giles landed safely on two of Beall's offerings, both a critical moments. His hits scored two of the dreadnaught runners.

Next Sunday the big Ds will close the season with some foe as yet unknown. Then all their energies will be turned toward the building of a football team, the strongest team in Northern Virginia, which shall prepetuate the baseball record.

THE DAY OF ATONEMENT

From sunset on Tuesay, October 11th, until sunset on Wednesday evening, October 12th, the Jewish people will, everywhere, gather for teh observance of Yom Kippur in their several places of worship and there, in meditation and prayer, forgetful of the world ouside, revive their confidence in the eventful triumph of God's love and justice, and the brotherhood of man.

The Day of Atonement, known as Yom Kippur, in Hebrew, is mentioned in the Bible. In the book of Leviticus, chapter 16, the atonement is described. In Levilcus 23: 26-32, the observance of Yom Kippur is enjoined as a holy day whereon affliction of the soul (fasting, etc.) is to be practiced.

A traditional observance on this day has, thus, long been fasting. Originally the high priest was the central figure of the ritual. He besought forgiveness for his own sins and those of his household, and then for allthe people. The sacrifce of two goats, one for the Lord, and the other set aside for "Azazel," was a means of purifcation from sin.

From these Biblical practices, which sought, in symbolic fashion, to obtain forgiveness for the community as a whole, the celebration of the Day of Atonement was considerably changed in Rabbinical Judiasm; and in modern Judaism, teh observance of the Day of Atonement emphasizes repentanc for shortcomings and misdeed, for failure to live up to the lure of indolence and selfishness.

The public service of the Day of Atonement begins at sun down with a solemn and plaintive prayer melody, known as Kol Nidre ("all vows") which refers to vows appertaining to the conscience of the individual, Throughout the whole day following, teh service is continuous, teh intent of which is to awaken within the worshipper a consciousness of his need to orientate himself spiritually, that he may the more worthily do his work in this world. The day long service culminates in the Ne'ilah service, in which forgiveness is besoughgt for all mankind as for the individual Jew who utters the prayer. Not the punishment of the sinnr, but repentance for his failings and weaknesses, and courage to walk under the burden of life, valiantly, is the keynote of the concluding service.

In modern times a memorial service is also a feature of the day. This service rminds the worshipper that death is a consummation of life, and should not be feared. No one who has lived worthily is forgotten, nor is his lif void. All who contribute to the attainment of man's hope of redmption from poverty, war, famine, sickness, selfishness, and exploitation hasten the advent of the Kingdom of God, which is established as the result of every person's effort to better conditions of life. The memorial service on the Day of Atonement is crowded with tender memories, but utilizes the solemn moment to drive hime the paramount duty of living for humanity.

How you, too, can cut down on your coal this year

Over a million families will by using the Perfection

Perfection Oil Heaters will be more economical than ever this year—Aladdin Security Oil costs but a trifle more than half what it did a year ago.

It's wasteful to "rush" your heater to make two or three rooms comfortable. The economical way is to warm the house all over with your coal heater and then keep those rooms you use most comfortable and cozy with the additional heat of a Perfection.

The Perfection Oil Heater is simplicity itself—no trouble to take care of it—and it burns for about 10 hours on a single gallon of kerosene.

Most hardware, housefurnishing and department stores sell Perfection Oil Heaters—blue or black, with nickeled trimmings if you like.

While Mr. Crane is not discussing his grievances it is well known he has not forgotten the incident whic. brought about the recall of his appointment as minister to China after he had boarded a boat at San Francisco to assume his post. Mr. Crane had been named by Former President Taft and it was given out that his recall was due to an indiscreet anti-Japanese speech. Another story currently reported was that Mr. Crane was appointed over the head of Secretary of State Philander C. Knox who insisted the appointment be recalled.

Miss Mary Hunt Roberts made a hit as Jennie, the Swedish stewardess, a humorous part that Miss Roberts' intrepreted with skill.

Mr. A. J. Rhodes was full of more fun than ever in his comical part. Mr. Rhodes is always professional to the minutest detail and, to him is due much of the laughter and enjoyment of the audience. Supporting Mr. Rhodes are two hard boiled sailors taken by James and Leslie Deavers, whose singing and acting could not be improved upon.

Two special features that take place are the "Rose Ballet," by Miss Mary Lee Spilman and Miss Elanora Peake whose dancing was especially attractive and won much applause; and "Peggy O'Neil," sung by little Miss Annie Moore, who posseses a remarkable voice for one so young and who made a decided hit with her clever little dance.

The accamponists were Miss Hilda Schneider and Miss Rhodes.

What Happened in Des Moines
No. 7

Soon after street cars stopped running and buses attempted to carry the people, taxpayers awoke to the fact that they were furnishing the cow and the bus men were getting the cream.

In dollars and cents, here were some of the differences between street cars and buses:

STREET CARS	BUSES
Paid the city taxes totaling $167,000 per year.	Paid license fee $25 each.
Paved streets, and repaired streets and highway bridges, and did them almost no damage.	Badly damaged pavements and paid nothing for their repair —this falling on taxpayers.
Invested $7,000,000 in fixed property most of which could not be moved away.	Invested only the cost of their buses—from $600 up—all of which could "leave the city flat" in half an hour.

Sentiment aside, it was poor business, everyone realized to starve the car company to death.

Inadequate fares and unrestricted bus competition forced the Des Moines street railway to abandon all city service—over 92 miles of line—on August 4, 1921.

THIN, FLAT HAIR GROWS LONG, THICK AND ABUNDANT

"Danderine" costs only 35 cents a bottle. One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.

MAYS PITCHES YANKEES TO 3-0 VICTORY

York series ever played for world baseball honors. Babe Ruth, king of the long distance clouters, although he did not make any home runs was in there with a timely hit and some inspiring and heady coaching on the lines. "Mike" McNally, the Yankees' third baseman, rated as one of thei weakest hitters, contributed a double which blossomed into a run, and jumped into a niche in the world series hall of fame by tearing off a neat steal home in the fifth inning for the second run of the game.

The Yankee victory was won against a determined Giant defense the sterling feature of which was a well-pitched game by Phil Douglas, the Nationals' spit-ball star. Douglas had the slugging Ruth at his m after the fourth inning ,striking th Babe out twice, amid roars of approval from the Giant rooters.

Douglas left the game in the eigh inning, when Earl Smith, pin h ter, went to bat for him and filed out to Ruth. Barnes pitched the ni inning for the Giants, and v clouted for two hits.

In the field, Ruth played well, getting four of the five outfield put-outs. In the third inning, he gave his admirers a heart pang when he caught Douglas' high fly and let it bounce out of his hands. He managed to recover the ball, however, before it could fall to the ground. He was ran true to his spectacular form, cheered every time he came to the plate, and every time he caught a fly!

Undoubtedly from the standpoint of the more than 30,000 spectators in stands and bleachers, the appearance of Babe Ruth at the plate was the big attraction of the afternoon. As has been said, he went homerunless for the day, his only hit being the first inning blow—a slashing single to center—that sent Miller home with the first Yankee run. Ruth on this occasion went out himself in a fast double play. On his second trip to the plate he received a base on balls. The sixth and eighth innings he struck out.

NORFOLK GETS PYTHIANS NEXT YEAR

Luncheon at 12.30 o'clock and resumed its business session at 2 o'clock this afternoon when some unfinished business was taken up and disposed of.

At 2.30 o'clock this afternoon the contest for the state trophy in the conferring of the rank of Page on a candidate in amplified form is on between Osceola Lodge No. 47 of Roanoke and Rathbone Lodge No. 93 of Norfolk. This work will be completed shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon and the winning team announced. The trophy is $250 and it is to be won three consecutive times in order to become the permanent property of any lodge. Each team has twenty members.

Concluding exercises will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the Young People's building on South Washington street when the rank of Knight will be conferred on a class of fifteen Alexandria candidates by Oriental Lodge No. 6 this city and Syracusian Lodge No. 10 of Washington.

In honor of the Pythian Sisters a dance was given last night in Odd Fellows' Hall which was attended by a large gathering of the visiting Pythian Sisters and many of the members of the Knights of Pythias. The affair was a big success in every particular.

Music was furnished by orchestra from Camp Humphreys.

Many of the delegates will leave late this afternoon for their homes. The majority, however, expect to remain over and witness the conferring of the degree work tonight. The majority of the Pythians will have left the city by midnight.

Pythian Sisters

The mistress of finance, Mrs. Julia Hill of Richmond, was presented with a past grand jewel in recognition of five years services. The retiring past grand Mrs. Sacrey also received a jewel.

WITH THE WISHING FAIRY by CORINNE

Mr. and Mrs. Lovebird Are Made Very Happy.

TWO little Parrots flew all the way from Africa, where they lived, to the End-of-the-earth, to see Stella.

"Are you the Wishing Fairy?" they breathlessly asked her.

"Yes," she said with a smile. "Do you want to see me?"

"I should say we do!" exclaimed little Mrs. Parrot, "for we both have a wish. It's the same wish, and all the way here we have been hoping that you would make it come true for us. We want it more than anything in all the world. Will you do this for us?" she asked anxiously. "Please, Fairy, dear, PLEASE."

"Of course I will," laughed Stella. "I should love to do anything that I can for you. I hope," she added, "you don't mind my telling you that you are both very beautiful birds."

They didn't mind at all, but preened their lovely feathers and smiled in parrot fashion and Mrs. Parrot seemed especially pleased.

They did look pretty!

They were green and yellow, with light blue on their tails, rose on their throats and they had brilliant red foreheads.

"I suppose," little Mr. Parrot said (for he was only six inches long), "that that is why we love one another so; for we never seem to tire of looking at each other."

"Yes," his wife chimed in, "we are perfectly miserable if we are separated even for as much as a minute. That," she added shyly, "is really why we came here to see you; for our wish is that we may always always, always be together . . . that we may even die together."

Stella was quite touched, for never before had she seen such devotion.

"It is very rare," she answered softly, "to see such wonderful affection, and I promise you that your wish will come true. Wait a moment, while I get my magic wand."

Mr. and Mrs. Parrot edged up closer one to the other. They didn't at all mind waiting, when they could wait together and bill and coo. Not at all! In fact, waiting seemed very nice to them, so nice that they were almost sorry when Stella returned with her star wand . . . the little star that had been too tiny to stay in the sky, and which Stella had caught when it fell and placed on the end of her wand—the star that always makes all good wishes come true.

So Stella waved it slowly over the two birds while she told them that in the future they would always be together.

"Even when we die?" they asked eagerly.

"Yes, even then," the Fairy answered, "for when one of you dies the other will be too unhappy to live . . . and will die also. And," she added, "though you belong to the Parrot family you shall always be known as Love-birds after this."

Mr. and Mrs. Love-bird were so happy on hearing these words that they could scarcely answer.

Stella asked them about their relatives.

"We have ever so many cousins," Mr. Love-bird said, gulping hard, for he was trying to look calm, even though he was so happy, "three hundred and fifty of them, counting the Cockatoos. Some of them are perfectly enormous, some are pure white and others have feathers of every color; but," he added proudly, "they are all very clever, for they can imitate other birds and sometimes they can even imitate Humans!"

The two birds thanked the Wishing Fairy and very eagerly they started home to begin living their happy little future lives together.

And Stella watched them with a smile, for they were flying just as near as possible to each other!

AMERICAN SEES PETRA FAMOUS ROCK CITY THE MODERN WORLD FORGOT

New York, Oct. 6.—An American has seen Petra, the famous rock capital of Arabia that disappeared from the civilized world a thousand years before America was discovered. He is E. M. Newman, the travel lecturer, who, accompanied by a guard furnished by Prince Feisul of the new Arab kingdom of Hedjaz, was able to penetrate the Sinai Peninsula region which is occupied by hostile tribesmen.

Newman followed the trail used by Burkhardt, the Swiss explorer who rediscovered Petra early in the last century. He traveled twenty-eight miles through a deep and narrow gorge into the mountains and found a city of buildings, temples, streets, and dwellings carved from the solid rock. He picked up tear bottles and Roman and Hebrew coins in the streets. He inspected houses that remain as they were on the day the city ceased to exist.

Dates to Dawn of History

Petra dates back to the dawn of history. It is thought to be the Selah mentioned in the Bible. The Arabs say that Moses, leading the children of Israel to the Promised Land, spent twenty years there. It was ruled successively by Horite, Edomite, Nabataean, Roman, and Greek. Then, in the fourth century, Petra ceased to exist, destroyed either by flood or an invasion of neo-Persians. The world forgot that it had ever existed. Today a few half-starved Bedouins live in the anvient tombs. Mothers cradle their babes in stone coffins and the children play with utensils that amused children centuries ago.

Sees "Pharaoh's Treasury"

Fewer than a hundred Europeans have seen Petra since it was rediscovere dby Burkhardt, Newman says in the September Mentor Magazine, but with the postwar changes it is possible that the ancient city will b made accessible to tourists.

Newman brought back many photographs of the lost city. One of the most impressive is that of Pharaoh's Treasury," a great temple carved in the face of a cliff; the Arabs believe it housed the treasure of Egypt at one time. To this day they empty their guns at a stone urn over the portal, hoping to shatter it and obtain the gold which tradition says it contains.

JOHN DANIEL McPHAIL DIES; HE FIRED FAMOUS "GEN ERAL"

JohnDaniel McPhail, for many years connected with the mechanical department of the Southern Railway at Columbus, Ga., died at his residence in that city on July 25, aged 75 years. Mr. McPhail ran the first struction engine for the Georgia Midland Railroad and has been in the service since the beginng of that line He was Master Mechanic at Columbus from September1, 1885, until April 1, 1913, when he retired from active work. MMcPhail acted as fireman on the celebrated Confederate engine "General," and in a skirmish with Union soldiers received a saver sabre cut. He also saw service as a Confederate soldier despite his youthful years.

STATE HIGHWAY FUNDS

Richmond, October 4.—Contracts for 324,08 miles of State highway costing $5,709,709.47 have been awarded by the State Highway Department during the fiscal year of October 1st, 1920 to September 1st, 1921, according to data given out here today b. Commissioner George P. Coleman. Re surfacing work, 59 miles, to cost $347,380.01 has been undertaken l State forces, Additional allotments or seven projects under way of $68,628.-68 brings the total cost of state contracts and resurfacing work on 4 miles of State highway to the sum of $6,071,214.17. In addition to th amount there remains on hand to cover contracts which will be awarded as soon as questions such as right of way and location have been decided $1,051,000, making a total of contracts awarded and initiated during the fiscal year, which closed Friday of 87,122,214.17.

Since January 1, 1919, when the State Highway Department first began to construct the State highway system with State and Federal funds, contracts for the ocnstruction of 551.-44 miles of road has been awarded up to September 30, 1921, in addition t. resurfacing work either completed or under way of 123.6 miles.

Surplus Funds From 1920.

That Virginia was able to let to contract and resurface in excess of sixty per cent more mileage of State highway during the fiscal year of 1920 1921 than were let to contract or resurfaced during the two previous years combined, is due to the accumulation of funds left over from 1920 and the loans made by counties to the State under the Robertson Act. In 1919 funds were limited, labor and materials were high and difficult to procure. The State Highway Department has just begun to function with Federal and State Funds with which to build State highways and surveys and plans had to be made in advance. In 1920 when prices continued high, a conference was held between Governor Davis and the state Highway Commission, at which time it was decided to hold up construction until prices were lower.

Early in the year of 1921 when materials and labor costs declined, and transportation facilities for materials and an abundant supply of labor were available, the State Highway Department commenced awarding contracts and started construction all over the State. By June 14, 1921 all of the Federal Aid due Virginia was taken up in projects in the various stages of final approval by the bureau of public roads in Washington. Likewise all of the available State funds were taken up either in contracts let or ready to be awarded as soon as details as to rights of way could be settled. The Highway Department has not initiated any new contracts, since that time, being compelled to wait until the 1922 funds are available.

State Now Ready to go Ahead

In addition to 551,44 miles of State highways which have been let to contract since January 1, 1919, surveys and plans have been completed for 583 miles of State Highways. The State Highway Department is rapidly adding to the surveys and plans for more mileage of State road construction. On September 30th of this year the State Highway Department had under way. surveys for sixty-eight additional miles. By the time the State Highway Commission will be ready to let contracts in the spring, it is estimated there will be ready approximately 650 miles of road. Notwithstanding the large amount of surveys made for next year's work, the overhead of the State Highway Department, which consists of engineering and administration expense, has been between six and a half and six and three-quarters per cent. This compares favorably with other States in the Union.

What portion of 650 miles of State highway for which the State Highway Department will have plans and surveys ready by March of 1922 can be let to contract, will depend on the funds made available by the General Assembly. The estimated returns from the mill tax, one-third of the automobile tax, value of convict labor, and Federal Aid under the schedule of the new Federal Aid Act, will produce $4,100,000 out of which must be paid back to the counties allotments to cover portions of loans made under the Robertson Act of $227,837.50, leaving a balance for new construction of only $3,872,163.50. Even if the General Assembly appropriated the same amount from the general fund as has been available annually for the past three years of $700,000, the State would only have $4,372,163. or $2,-750,000 less than the amount of road funds available during 1921 for new construction of State highways. The amount of road funds available in 1921 were recognized as wholly inadequate and $4,000,000 behind the amount being expended for new construction in the State of North Carolina during 1921. According to reports from other States just received Minnesota Highway Department has had available $15,000,000 and Michigan $22,000,000 for 1921. Illinois has advertised for bids on 187 miles of road to be let October 4th, which will cost between four and five million dollars, in addition to in excess of $15,000,000 worth of roads already let to contract this year.

He gave an example in folly which anybody can understand.

It isn't so easy, however, to sense the mistake of trying to build the body on foods which lack essential nourishment.

Here, again, is a foundation of sand which gives 'way when the test comes.

Many a food that tastes good lacks honesty of nourishment to equal it's taste. Thus it tempts the appetite into mistakes that often are costly.

Grape-Nuts is a food which helps build bodily endurance for life's stress and storm. The full nourishment of wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral salts so necessary to bone structure and red blood corpuscles, with phosphates for the brain, is retained in Grape-Nuts. The long baking process by which Grape-Nuts is made gives the food a natural sweetness and an unusual ease of digestibility and assimilation.

Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is fully nourishing, and whether eaten as a cereal at breakfast or lunch, or made into a pudding for dinner, Grape-Nuts has a particular delight for the appetite. Sold by grocers.

KENTUCKY GIRL WRITES LETTER

How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sunnyside, Ky.—"I suffered for more than two years with my back and nervousness, and was not able to help my mother do the housework. I took treatment from two doctors and they did not do me any good. Mother saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the paper and I took about ten bottles. It has done me a great deal of good. I weigh 138 pounds and am in good health. I will gladly recommend Vegetable Compound to anyone who suffers with the troubles which I had, and you are welcome to publish my testimonial."—VELMER HENDRICK, Route 1, Sunnyside, Ky.

To many American girls life is often a heavy drag in consequence of illness, and every mother should heed the first manifestations, such as cramps, backaches, headaches and nervousness as Mrs. Hendrick did for her daughter, and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For over forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been relieving women of just such troubles.

Not Accidentally Good— Made that Way

"Standard" Motor Gasoline has to pass five stiff examinations.

These are:

Chemical laboratory tests on the gasoline itself, to determine volatility, purity, stability, explosion points, etc.

Physical laboratory tests in one-cylinder engines, to determine character of ignition, rate of combustion, rate of pressure development, limits of performance, etc.

Dynamometer tests in standard makes of engines, to determine power developed, mileage per gallon, etc. Runs equivalent to a year's service give accurate data on carbon formation, valve pitting, spark plug fouling, etc.

Road tests in representative cars and trucks, which check the accuracy of former findings, and determine with greater accuracy the factors of acceleration, flexibility, range of carburetor adjustment, etc.

Service tests under average conditions. Company garages are maintained, each containing from 30 to 200 cars, trucks and tractors, comprising every known type of motor-driven equipment. The drivers are both amateurs and professionals—a fair general average for this work. These tests determine the all-around performance of the gasoline in the hands of the user.

"Anybody's Gas" may be good now and then. "Standard" Motor Gasoline has to be right all the time. That is what the public expects of it.
